2. Results of the Environmental and Social Report 2007 Questionnaire

Points most appreciated about the 2007 report

- The report gave me a good impression of TOK. TOK is working on improving environmental activities and performing self-assessments. There was also information on how TOK is learning from mistakes.
- Reading the report showed me TOK's strong commitment to environmental protection and social activities as a leading member of the photolithography industry.
- I learned that TOK is dedicated to CSR based on the concept of responsible care. TOK is always aware of the risk of causing an environmental problem.
- I was impressed with the transparency of TOK's operations because of the large volume of information in the environmental and social report.
- The report explained how TOK's operations affect the environment and society by using a format that was easy to understand.
- After reading the report, I can see that TOK is going beyond the obvious responses to tighter environmental regulations. TOK has a strong CSR commitment, especially for contributions to communities.

Points requiring improvement and TOK's response in the 2007 report

- Some readers said that the report was difficult to read because of the large amount of text and information on each page.
⇒Larger font and better page layouts
- Some readers want more local information while others want information in the report to be more focused.
⇒We will work on better identifying the readership of this report and their requirements, and then reexamine the contents of the report.

We will continue to use the opinions and suggestions of the public to improve our environmental and social activities in order to even better fulfill our responsibilities.
